A Vesper Hymn.

By CHARLES G. HALPINE.

The evening bells of Sabbath day,
The dusky silence of the night;
And through our gathering gloom
Sweet sparks of immortal light
Shed from the altar of the soul,
The labor of the weary week,
When with souls refreshed and bright,
Forgiveness of our sins we seek:

Oh! help us, Jesus, to confess
Our sins, thoughts and lives to Thee;
Thine early still and storm
Oh! make Thy star of love to shine:
When we are sick in the bed
Of death and care—oh, come that we,
As Peter did, may safe resign
Our sinking hearts and lives to Thee.

Our wayward footsteps wander wide,
Pursuing joy's delusive rays;
And in our hours of health and pride,
Too oft from Thee our spirit strays;
But soon descend the darker days,
When youth and strength, the later life,
And, journeying through a pathless maze,
We turn to our neglected God:

Lead back, Oh Lord! Thy wandering sheep—
Oh, guide us gently to Thy fold;
Instruct us all Thy laws to keep,
And on Thy love our hearts to mold:
For we are weak, and faith grows cold—
Nor ever sleep the tempter's powers;
Thou art our only aid and hope—
Through Thine alone can Heaven be ours!

A darker shade, a deeper gloom
Descends on all the faded flowers;
While silent as the twilight hours,
Above them roll the midnight hours;
To-morrow's dawn, and their perfume
Again will fill their glowing bowers:
And when death's angel comes to bid
Where no foot chills, no tempter lingers:

VARIETY.

What class of workmen are always on a strike, no matter what their wages are? Blacksmiths.
"Some editors are so peaceably inclined they refuse to put heads on their editorials." The fighting editor does this in our office—Philadelphia Herald.

In a sermon recently Mr. Moody said: "If you cannot be a lighthouse be a candle." We have heard of young ladies who would prefer to be half of a match.

"You go to Sheenago, hey?" said the gentleman from Germany. "Yell, you pe pretty careful about that water. Eh you want to get wet, you trink none of dat water did you ket used to him."—Rochester Democrat.

No expression of the human countenance can equal the look of lonesome amazement that flashes over the face of the solitary oyster at finding himself engaged up in a gallon of chivalrous soup.—Burlington Hawkeye.

A friar when preaching in a nunnery observed to his female auditors: "Be not too proud that our blessed Lord paid your sex the distinguished honor of appearing first to a female after the resurrection; for it was done that the glad tidings might spread the sooner."

Old Bledsoe, although he is a very profane, wicked man, looks very youthful for his years. One of his neighbors remarked to Mrs. Bledsoe, the other day, "The old man is wearing well, isn't he?" "Oh, yes," replied the old woman; "he's swearing well enough as it goes, but considering the opportunities and practice he's had, he might put a little more polish into it."

The Home Journal objects to the wearing of diamonds when travelling because it is vulgar. It is a position which we assumed years ago, and we are glad to say that no one connected with this paper has ever been guilty of such vulgarity. We have occasionally taken a ride with a lawyer, but there are some depths to which we cannot sink.—Norwich Bulletin.

YOUNG LADY IN THE COUNTRY.—"Aunt Tabithy, my fur sack of imitation muskrat is about falling—whoddy you think I'd better get into for summer?" "Keep buying on the farm, my dear, your lovely form in one of those now fashionable capotes, cut bias, turned over on the edge and box-pleated around the top!" (Sensation.)—Puck.

"It's all very well," remarked a red-nosed man in a bad hat and an ulcer of the vintage of '73, "it's all very well to say let business revive; but what we want, sir, is confidence, public confidence, sir. Each of us must be willing to bring out our hoarded dollars and put them once more in circulation. Then the skies will brighten, then—by the way I changed my vest this morning—lend me fifty cents, my son."

Danbury News: A writer in Scribner has an article on the subject, "How to keep the boys on the farm." He evidently means well, but he doesn't touch the real point. He says, "Keep the boys on the farm, the farm should be well paved and lighted with gas, and have a band-stand, and billiard tables, and its own bar and race-course. We hope our farmers are as quick as anxious as they appear to be to keep their boys on the farm, but they don't seem to take any definite action."

A story is told of two worthy New England deacons, between whom a bitter feud had long existed concerning some contested point. Neither would yield, and the matter threatened to be handed down to the next generation. One day Deacon Smith appeared before his old enemy and solemnly said: "Brother Jones, it is a shame that this quarrel of ours should bring scandal upon the Church; have played earnestly for guidance in the matter, and have come to the conclusion that you must give in, for I cannot."

OVERWHELMING A HAPPY FATHER.—A funny story regarding Mr. S. and an acquisition is told in the Amsterdam Recorder. S. was traveling in Kansas, recovered the following telegram: "Return immediately. You are a father." On the eve of his return his lady friend, determined to play a joke on him, procured from the neighborhood three other babies, placed all four in a row on a bed in an adjoining apartment, and covered them up. S. arrived, embraced his wife in great delight, and was then led forth to see his first-born. When the cover was raised an indescribable look of surprise overcame his countenance as he exclaimed, "Great God! Did any of them get away?"

A TOAD STORY.—Dr. Macdonald, of Ward's Island, lectured last night about the delusions of the insane. Speaking of persons who imagined themselves to be horses, birds, etc., he said: "A lady believed she had a toad in her stomach and grew very ill in consequence. Her physician, after vainly endeavoring to coax her out of the idea, gave her an emetic, and while she was vomiting, dexterously slipped a toad into the basin and called her attention to it. For a time she was cured, but a few weeks later she had the same symptoms as before, and insisted that the toad must have given birth to some young ones, which were still in her stomach. The doctor, however, persuaded her that this could not be the case, since the animal she had thrown up was—a male. This effected a permanent cure."
